Outlook and Recommendations:

There has been an uptick in the margins of the company for the quarter under review, which indicates better operational efficiencies by the company. One must keep in mind, there has been slightly sluggish sales as far as the festive season sales for 2W and 4W vehicles is concerned; indicating the upcoming quarter with slightly slower topline growth. However, in the long run, the conviction provided by the consistent trajectory growth of the company provides us a cushion to maintain our stands and recommend a BUY on the stock with a (third revised target) price of Rs1000 with a 12 month's perspective.
